RHODIUM PLATING

Rhodium is a chemical element like Gold (Au) or Silver (Ag) with the symbol Rh. It is a rare, silvery-white, hard metal and member of the platinum group. The process of rhodium plating jewellery gives the chains a slightly different colour (more like white gold). It can be an effective way to avoid the natural tarnishing that Sterling Silver has in certain environments and over time.

Most of our sterling silver crosses are also available RHODIUM PLATED.
Simply add an 'R' to the code when ordering. Example: SSD-12PCH20 becomes SSD-R12PCH20

The Celts, who in the 7th century inhabited what is now the UK, were famed for their craftsmanship and carved symbols in stone that revealed their new faith. As there were few churches in the region, the Celtic Crosses were considered sacred places where people would go to pray and give thanks. There are many ancient crosses still standing, which have been in place for well over 1000 years.

The Orthodox cross is the symbol of the Russian Orthodox Church. It is like the traditional cross with two additional horizontal bars. The upper bar represents the sign 'INRI,' and the lower, slanted bar is a stylized footrest, a common design in early Christian crosses.

UKRAINIAN SYMBOLS

The Tryzub (pronounced "tre-zoob") is a popular symbol of the Ukraine and is present on the country's flag. It is worn as a symbol of the Christian trinity, of national pride, or as the divine elements of fire and water.

JERUSALEM CROSS

The JERUSALEM CROSS, also known as the CRUSADER'S CROSS, has four arms at equal distances, symbolizing the four directions and the belief that Jerusalem is the spiritual centre of the earth. The more complex version of the symbol represents the spread of Christ's message through the four evangelists, (Matthew, Mark, Luke and John), who are represented by the four additional 'crosslets.'

The rosary is used in the Roman Catholic Church as a form of devotion in which five sets of ten Hail Marys (five decades) are repeated.

During each decade, which is preceded by an Our Father and followed by a Glory Be, thought is given to one of the 4 mysteries: Joyful, Sorrowful, Glorious and Luminous. The origin of the name comes from the Latin 'rosarium,' meaning 'rose garden.'

First Holy Communion is the ceremony in which a person, usually a child, receives the Eucharistic bread for the first time. Confirmation is the ceremony when a young adult re-confirms the vows of fidelity to God taken by his or her parents and God at Baptism

Both Sacraments are usually celebrated in the spring. Occasionally, they are celebrated at the same time if the person is an adult, or under special circumstances.

A Guardian Angel is a messenger that God uses to communicate with people and protect them. Belief in guardian angels can be traced throughout all antiquity across many religions and denominations. They are said to present prayers to God on a person's behalf. Everyone has a guardian angel that watches over them: 'I send an angel before you, to guard you, to accompany you on the way, so you will not make a mistake'. In Europe, the angel Gabriel is the Patron Saint of children.

Saint Christopher is known as the Patron Saint of Travellers because he carried people across a raging stream in the name of God. One day a child he was carrying grew so heavy it felt as if the whole world was on his shoulders. The child made himself known as the creator of the world. The name Christopher means 'Christ-bearer'. He is also the patron of bachelors, storms, epilepsy and gardeners.

CHAINS and NECKLACES in 10K Gold

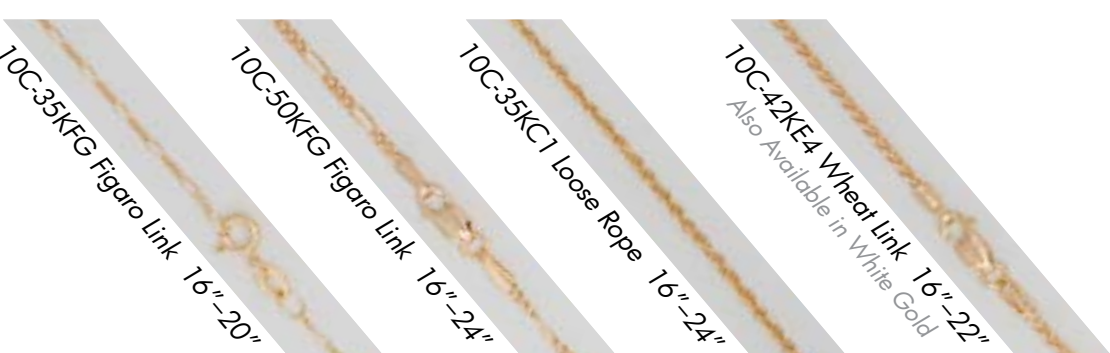

CURB LINK CHAINS

BOX LINK CHAINS

OTHER LINK CHAINS

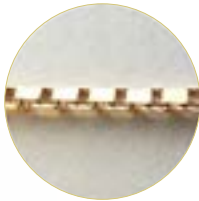

Gold has been used by people longer than any other metal. The Greeks thought it was a mix of sunlight and water, and the Incas called it "tears of the sun". It is a chemical element with the symbol Au from the Latin 'Aurum', which derives from the words 'glow' and 'dawn'.

The historical value of gold is rooted in its relative rarity, easy smelting and fabrication and distinctive colour. Because of the softness of pure gold (24 karat), it is usually alloyed with base metals for use in jewellery, altering its hardness, melting point, colour and other properties. Alloys with lower karat rating, typically 22k, 18k, 14k or 10k, contain higher percentages of copper or silver or palladium. Gold can be endlessly shaped and reshaped, does not corrode, is a great conductor and will not react with the body, making it perfect for jewellery and many other applications.

Sterling Silver & Gold Medals
Made In Italy

ITALORO has been importing quality Jewellery from Italy since 1976, but 'Made in Italy' doesn't only reflect where it comes from, it also represents a standard in craftsmanship that dates back hundreds of years. The attention to detail, the artistic design, the die-striking process and the finishing all contribute to the impeccable look and feel of our medals and why they are more than just jewellery, they are a keepsake to be cherished and passed on.

HAND CARVING

Italian artisan sculptors begin the design process by carving a large plaster model. This original carving is around 8x10 inches.

BRONZE CASTING

A full size bronze model is cast and is used to render smaller dies for striking.

CREATING THE MEDAL

A pantograph creates a smaller-scale die positive keeping all the detail intact.

A negative is struck and then used to individually die-strike each medal onto a gold or silver disc. The medal is then polished and ready to wear!

FROM START

TO FINISH

The first three letters indicate whether the metal (Silver/Gold) and Category. (Eg: SSC=Sterling Silver Chains, 10C=10K Gold Chains). All our chain codes are measured in centimetres (cm) and the last two numbers of any chain, necklace or bracelet code indicate its length. For example, the light curb chain SSC-40KD-45 is a 45cm long (approximately 16 inches). Here is an approximate length conversion from centimeters into inches:

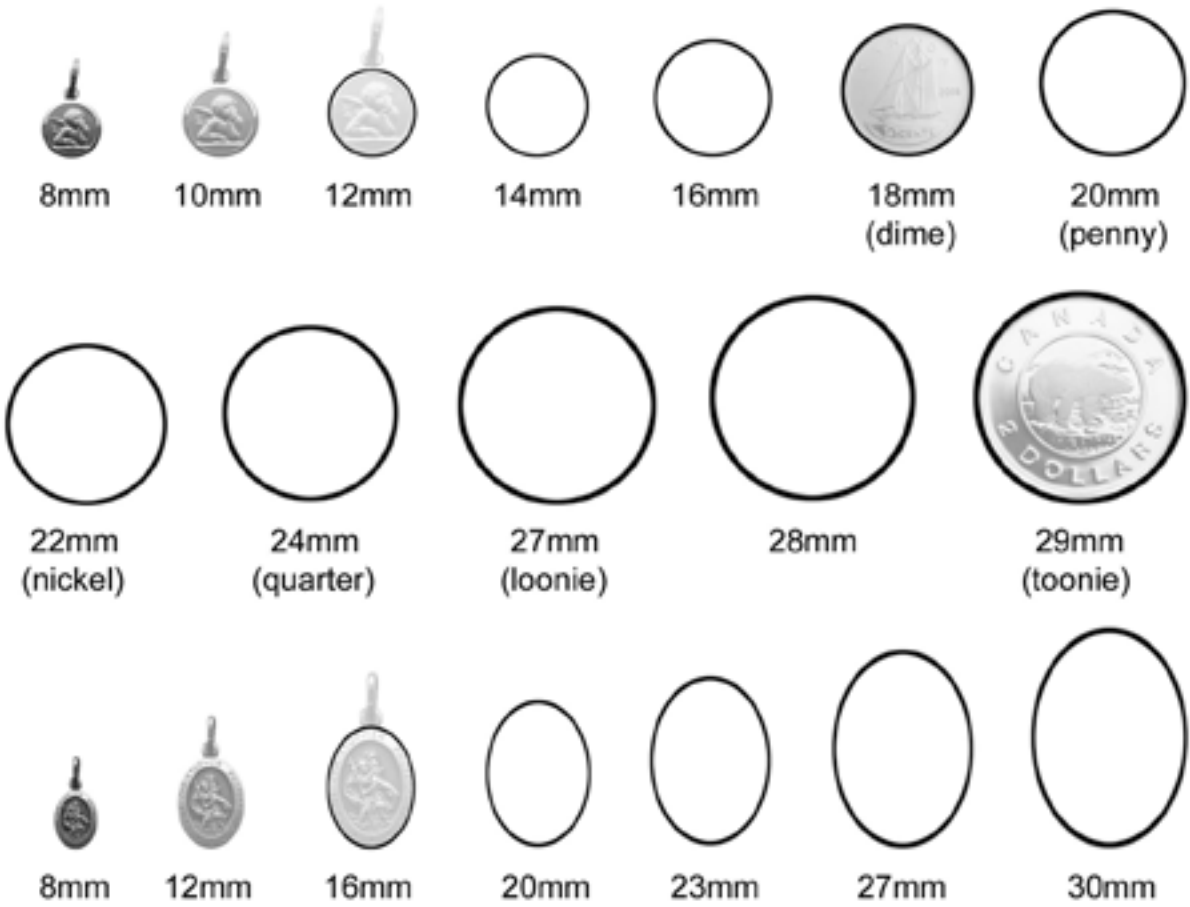

BRACELETS & ANKLETS

18cm = 7"	19cm = 7 1/2"	20cm = 7 3/4"
21cm = 8 1/4"	23cm = 9"	25cm = 9 3/4"

CHAINS & NECKLACES

36cm = 14"	40cm = 16"	45cm = 18"	50cm = 20"
55cm = 22"	60cm = 24"	65cm = 26"	70cm = 28"
75cm = 30"	80cm = 32"	85cm = 34"	90cm = 36"

For our medals, the first two digits after the dash refers to its size in millimeters. The last digit or letter(s) of an item number refers to the occasion or saint image. For example, the item SSM-12MMB4-9 is a 12 millimeter (12mm) oval with english writing around the border (B4) Saint Christopher (-9) medal. The 12MMB4-0 is the same shape and style medal but with the Miraculous Medal image (-0).

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q: Why are the images on your medals clearer than other medals I've seen?

A: The medals we import from Italy are all die-struck like coins, therefore the details are more precise than a medal that has been made by casting process.

Q: What does the 'sterling' in Sterling Silver mean?

A: Sterling Silver is the name given to an alloyed silver which is 92.5% pure. It is an ideal proportion of pure silver to alloy for its strength, since in its pure state, silver is generally too soft a metal for most jewellery.

Q: What does 'rhodium plated' mean?

A: Most of our Sterling Silver jewellery is also available rhodium plated. Rhodium is a chemical element like Gold (Au) or Silver (Ag) with symbol Rh. It is a rare, silvery-white, hard metal and member of the platinum group. The process of rhodium plating jewellery gives the chains a slightly different colour (more like white gold). It can be an effective way to avoid the natural tarnishing that Sterling Silver has in certain environments and over time. In most cases, an 'R' at the beginning of our item code specifies a rhodium plated item.

Q: What are those stamps on the back of jewellery?

A: The stamps you see on all our jewellery are international stamps to indicate the composition/quality of metal (in gold, the karat), and who manufactured it. Karat marks for gold are a reflection of the proportion of gold to alloy in the metal and are measured in 24 karats. 10 karat gold is 41.66% pure gold (10/24), 18 karat gold is 75% pure gold (18/24), and Sterling Silver is 92.5% pure silver. The karat marking is a mandatory legal requirement on jewellery in Canada, and the registered manufacturer stamp (*) is another guideline that helps the consumer know who is standing behind the product.
